INTRODUCTION

Value of the Bibliography

The Family History Library has an excellent African-American collection. This bibliography was compiled to introduce this collection to the African American community in an effort to help individuals locate their African-American ancestors. It was also compiled to help librarians answering questions about African-Americans research.

Many of the African-American sources are difficult to find because they are scattered in the catalog under a variety of subjects and localities. This bibliography was created to help you use the sources in this collection easily.

Before Using This Bibliography

Some people use ethnic sources to the exclusion of genealogical sources for the places where their ancestors lived. However, it is important for you to use American or Canadian sources such as censuses, church records, cemeteries, wills, deeds, or military records to locate your family. The United States Research Outline (30972) and the Canada Research Outline are important guides that explain how to use these types of sources. Start with locality sources and then use the sources in this bibliography to extend your research.

An excellent “how-to” book on African American research is:

Scope

This bibliography contains sources for African-Americans in the United States and Canada. It was compiled over a period of several years and completed in 1994, so sources published or acquired after this date are not listed in this bibliography.

It includes records for groups such as Black Indians, Cherokee Freedmen, Melungeons, and mulattos. Family histories of slave owners as well as African-Americans have been included, when they could be identified.

This bibliography contains approximately 3,320 citations. Almost all the works listed are found at the Family History Library.

Terminology
The terms used in this outline, such as “colored” or “mulatto,” reflect the terms used in the records. We do not want to be derogatory to any ethnic group. Please do not take offense at the use of such terms as they appear in the old records. We hope this bibliography will be used to uplift and help others learn about their heritage.

Arrangement

The entries in this bibliography are divided into two sections. The first section is arranged by subject. The subjects are listed alphabetically by the type of record, such as church, court, slavery and bondage, and vital records. In the second section, locality sources are listed alphabetically by state or province. Canada is listed after the United States. Within each state or province section there is a general state subject section followed by the counties in alphabetical order. Within each section the sources are usually alphabetical by the title of the work, or name of the plantation owner.

This bibliography includes an “index” to many of the Kenneth Stampp collection of southern plantation records. If the location of the state, county, or town could be determined, the plantations are listed alphabetically by state, county (or parish or district) and then by the name of the plantation owner. Occasionally a town is listed at the end of the county section. If the county of the plantation could not be determined, it was listed alphabetically by the name of the plantation owner under the statewide “Slavery and Bondage” section. If no state could be determined, it was listed in the subject section under “Slavery and Bondage.”

Over 300 African-American biographical dictionaries are all cataloged under the single title:

Black Biographical Dictionaries 1790-1950. Burkett, Randall K. On 1,070 fiche beginning with 6049870; computer number 0546520.

These 300 dictionaries are not listed separately in the Family History Library Catalog. The individual titles are only listed in this bibliography. See the “Biography” section of the General African-American Research section or the biography section for each state to find these entries.

Content of a Citation

Books, Microfilms, and Microfiche

Most citations consist of the title of the work in italics, the author, Family History Library (FHL) book, microfilm, or microfiche number, and a computer number. Occasionally, an annotation is also added. For example:
Maryland Records: Colonial, Revolutionary, County and Church, from Original Records.
Brumbaugh, Gaius Marcus. FHL book 975.2 D29b 1967; film 873779; computer number 0199795. Hundreds of blacks, most cases giving only first name, grouped with white family they are living with.

Periodicals

Periodical citations usually consist of the title of the article in quotation marks, the author, the title of the journal or periodical in italics, the volume and issue number, date of the periodical, page numbers, and the Family History Library call number and computer number. For example:

“Black Students, Kentucky Institute for the Blind 1866-1907, Jefferson County, Kentucky.”

Southern Plantations

Citations for the Records of Ante-Bellum Southern Plantations . . . include the title, the series and part numbers (if any), the editor’s name, the name of the plantation owner in bold, the Family History Library film and computer numbers. The references to the guide books of the plantation series are also listed with their Family History Library call numbers, series, part and page numbers and computer numbers. A few of the guides are available on the Internet, and if so, the Internet address is also listed. For example:

You can order the plantation record microfilms at Family History Centers, but the guide booklets are not available through Centers.

Black Research

Some sources are part of a collection called Black Research: Collection of Published Materials for Black Genealogical Research. These are copies of chapters from books, or articles published in a variety of periodicals. The original call numbers and computer numbers are sometimes listed. For periodicals, the title of the article, periodical and volume and page number are also listed. This collection was compiled by Roger Scanlon. Our library call number and computer number for this collection are always cited. For example:

How to Find the Records Cited in This Bibliography

Microfilms and microfiche cited in this bibliography can be obtained though a Family History Center for a small shipping fee. Contact the center for details about obtaining these records. We recommend you find the works that interest you in the Family History Library Catalog to see details which are not mentioned in this bibliography. Depending on which version of the catalog you are using, you can find these works by the book author, book title, periodical title, book call number, film or fiche number, or computer number. The Family History Library Catalog can be found at Family History Centers and on the Internet at www.familysearch.org/Search/searchcatalog.asp

Books and periodicals in this bibliography are available at the Family History Library but not through Family History Centers (except the ones on microfilm or microfiche).

You can usually obtain copies of the books and periodicals cited in this bibliography by working with your local college or public library. They may have some of these sources in their collection. If so, you can locate them through their catalog or with the help of a reference librarian.

If not, your local college or public library can still help you obtain a copy through their inter-library loan program. We recommend you make a paper printout of the Family History Library Catalog entry for your item. Show the printout to your local librarian to help with the inter-library loan process, but please warn them that the Family History Library does not participate in inter-library loans.

How to Find Additional African American Sources

Use the Locality Search of the Family History Library Catalog to find additional sources, especially those which have been added to the collection since 1994. Search for the place where your ancestor lived and look under the following topics:

MINORITIES
PUBLIC RECORDS
SLAVERY AND BONDAGE
For example, search under such headings as:

- CANADA — MINORITIES
- UNITED STATES — SLAVERY AND BONDAGE
- ALABAMA — PUBLIC RECORDS
- ONTARIO — MINORITIES
- ARKANSAS — PUBLIC RECORDS
- FLORIDA, DADE — MINORITIES
- GEORGIA, BALWIN, MILLEDGEVILLE — SLAVERY AND BONDAGE
- TEXAS, TARRANT, FORT WORTH — PUBLIC RECORDS
- VIRGINIA, CULPEPER — SLAVERY AND BONDAGE

You could also use the Subject Search of the Family History Library Catalog and look under the same topics as above (without the place names). You could also look under the additional topics:

- AFRICAN AMERICANS
- AFRO-AMERICANS

How This Bibliography Was Compiled

This work was compiled by using the African-American bibliographies published for other large libraries and comparing the titles, authors, and subjects with the collection at the Family History Library. Marie Taylor looked at how these works were cataloged, and searched the same subject headings for additional titles. Other sources published by these same authors were used to find additional publications. Other sources were found by searching the Family History Library Catalog under the subject headings used to catalog the works mentioned in the African-American bibliographies. The minority and ethnic books in the United States section and for each state in the Family History Library were searched for other sources. The Periodical Source Index (PERSI) was searched to find articles about African-Americans in the Family History Library periodical collection. In addition, as new works were acquired by the Library, these sources were added until 1994.
